My name is Hailey Louw, and I work with the Intercultural Department at Northwestern College in Orange City, Iowa. We are currently in need of more volunteers to help with our 1:1 tutoring program. PIECE (Partners In Education, Community outreach, and Embracing diversity) is a non-profit ministry partnering with local organizations to offer unique opportunities for cross-cultural relationships to flourish. This program meets a need in our community by fostering authentic and reciprocal relationships with our immigrant neighbors in the form of tutoring adult English language learners. Curriculum and training are provided, and no need of a second language is required. We'd appreciate you spreading the word at your respective church and within its various ministries if any members are interested. Please contact Martha Draayer or me for more information or to sign up at sc.piece@gmail.com.
